DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of group III claims 5-8 , 22 and 31 and the monomeric species of polar group containing monomers, in the reply filed on 2/23/09 is acknowledged.
2. This election is not completely responsive to the election of species requirement. The examiner required the election of an ultimately disclosed species of monomer. The elected polar group containing is not a species of monomer but rather a sub-genus. The examiner has examined the claims based upon the elected sub-genus. The art shows the sub-genus. Should applicant amend the claims by limiting the sub-genus, such amendment will be considered non-responsive as canceling the elected invention.
3. Claims 22 and 31 are seen to be directed to non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
5. Claims 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weydert et al. US 2004/0122134.
6. This patent document teaches grafted rubber gels. The rubbers are grafted with the claimed polar comonomers, see [0016]. Natural rubber is identified as being a species of rubber to be grafted with the polar comonomer, see [0014]. The difference between the claimed invention and this teaching is that one would need to select the natural rubber species of rubber to be grafted with the polar comonomers. One having ordinary skill would be motivated to select the natural rubber species given that it is expressly identified as being suitable for grafting. As such, the claims are rendered prima facie obvious.

7. The Hamada patents are cited of interest.
